

COLLEGIATE DIRECTOR QUICK GUIDE

director of scholarship

All chapter sizes should have a director of scholarship. They report to the vice president: member education and serve on both the joint chapter management team (JCMT) and Nominating Committee. The director of scholarship implements the chapter scholarship program and helps the chapter achieve its academic goals. Depending on chapter size and structure, they oversee a scholarship committee.

DIVE DEEPER

- Consider a 'study buddy' program to help chapter members in similar areas of study mentor each other. The scholarship committee can help you create pairs or groups.
- Each member in poor standing should have a scholarship plan customized based on their needs and learning styles.
- Consider different ways of scholarship recognition. Some members love to be highlighted in chapter meeting while others love a private, handwritten note.
